Your personal data will be processed using manual and electronic instruments in compliance with the necessity and relevancy principles and implementing the appropriate security measures for the achievement of the aforementioned purposes.

Your personal data will be processed by expressly authorised persons trained on the subject of data protection; IT technicians and staff that supervise the functioning of our IT systems may have access to the data.

We also inform you, in summary, that you have the right to request information relevant to your personal data that we are processing, the rectification, erasure of the same, to object to the processing, request the restriction of the processing and data portability pursuant to the provisions from arts. 15 to 22 of the EU Regulation 2016/679 GDPR (copy of the mentioned articles can be requested using the above contact information).

At any time, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the relative supervisory authority.

If processing is based in whole or in part on you providing your consent, you have the right to freely revoke this consent, at any time, by contacting any of the addresses given above. The processing carried out consistent with the consent provided and the relative legal effects, will, however, remain valid even after any such consent is revoked.

For any clarification or communication regarding the processing of your data, please do not hesitate to contact us.
